Sunday meetings will begin at 8 a.m. with the conference general priesthood meeting. Leaders who attended the Saturday afternoon leadership meeting will be expected to attend this Sunday morning meeting.

Elder Sill and the BY Stake presidency will address the two general conference sessions at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Closing meeting of the conference will be presented by the MIA. This session is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

New Constitution, Point System Topic Of Discussion In IOC

The first monthly Inter-Organization Council meeting of spring quarter will be held Monday at 7 p.m. in 167 McKay Building.

"Inasmuch as one of the proposed changes in the IOC constitution will affect especially those organizations which have not been sending a representative to meetings, every student organization on campus is urged to be represented at the Monday meeting," said IOC President Rod Fye. This is important since they will be obligated to accept the vote of the majority of those present on this matter.

"Some organizations feel they should not be required to attend or do not realize they are obligated under the present constitution to attend council meetings. These organizations especially should be represented in order to present their views to the main body of IOC," said Fye.

The applicants for the IOC Court that have been selected by the interview board will be presented to the council members for approval. In addition, an adviser for the court, Judge Joseph Meservy, and some of the executive appointees will be introduced.

AWS Meet Draws 2 BYU Delegates

Bonnie Berrett, Associated Women Students president, and Janis Hull, AWS president-elect, will journey to Michigan Saturday through Tuesday for the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students National Convention.

This meet, being held at Michigan State University in East Lansing, Mich., draws AWS representatives from universities throughout the country.

Based on the theme, "As we see it . . . the role of the educated woman as student and citizen," the convention will include discussion groups, speeches, and business meetings.

Also to be discussed by the group will be the possibilities of admitting junior college women into AWS membership. Elections of national officers will be carried out.

The two coeds are leaving Provo Friday and will return Wednesday.

SHOWERS TODAY

The weatherman says partly cloudy today with scattered showers or snow flurries over mountains. Colder northwest and southeast. Windy south portion.

High today, 42-55.

Clothing Sections Open

Two new clothing and textile class sections have been opened, according to Eleanor Jorgenson, instructor in clothing and textiles.

A section of clothing 10, dress selection, has been set to meet Tuesday at 8 and 9 a.m. in 3260 Smith Family Living Center. Section 5 of elementary clothing construction has been opened and will meet Tuesday and Thursday at 8 and 9 a.m. in 3235 SFLC.

Both are two credit hour classes.

BIGGEST IN UTAH—Construction will begin immediately on the new men's dorms. This building will be the largest construction in the history of the university.

Dormitory Construction Begins Immediately

Contract for construction of the largest single student housing in the history of Utah, the men's residence halls at Brigham Young University, was let Thursday as a joint undertaking by Oakland Construction Company and Mark B. Garff, Ryberg & Garff Construction Company, both of Salt Lake City, it was announced by President Ernest L. Wilkinson.

Estimated total project cost, including landscaping, furnishings, decorating, and utilities, will be approximately $5,300,000.

The contract calls for completion of the project during the summer of 1958 to allow the University to prepare for occupancy for the autumn quarter of 1958.

The bidding on a basis of 500 days completion was very close. The lowest unconditional bidding was made jointly by Oakland Construction Company and Mark B. Garff, Ryberg & Garff Construction Company. One lower bid was rejected because the bidder failed to meet conditions of the bid invitation.

The men's residence project to house 1179 men will be the largest single building contract in the history of Brigham Young University. The Heritage Halls residences for women include 24 buildings and house 1500 women, but they were completed in two separate projects.

Work Begins Soon

Construction will get under way immediately. Ground already has been broken on a site just north of the football practice fields. The land was recently cleared of several homes, and the BYU poultry laboratory was moved from the site to the University farm two miles north.

The announced cost does not include property purchases. President Wilkinson has indicated that this may be only the initial step in a long-range housing development for male students. The University also is in the process of moving 150 homes from Mountain Home Air Base to house married students, and intends to construct permanent housing for married students.

First Since 1938

Final launching of the dormitory project comes as good news to 5284 men attending BYU. The new buildings will be the first permanent housing for men since Allen Hall was constructed in 1938. Temporary buildings which were obtained as military surplus have housed 329 men since 1947. All other men have had to rent in the community.

As has been the case with other housing units on campus, the new project will be self-liquidating. Loans have been obtained from the Church and will be repaid over a long period of time.

Ben E. Lewis, associate treasurer in charge of the University's auxiliary services, said, "We have seen most of the college and university housing areas in the nation. Ours will be one of the most functional, most desirable, most pleasant and most economical ones in the nation. It is something of which we can all be proud."

"Wo be unto him that crieth: All is well!" II Nephi 28:25

WE NEED A FLAG CEREMONY

Patriotism reaches fever pitch in the heat of an international conflict, but citizens become alarmingly apathetic during the fattening years of peace.

Probably the most patriotically, complacent of people are college students who tend to shrug off the old habits of pledging allegiance to the flag or paying homage due the nation as "kid stuff."

There are the days of ridiculing politicians, complaining about taxes and general grumbling about golfing vacations.

VETERANS KNOW HOW

With a wary glance cast at military-weary veterans of many, many cold reveilles and retreats, we offer the following suggestion.

Brigham Young University's campus, which is rapidly becoming one of the world's most beautiful as well as functional, is lacking in one thing... a flag of the United States placed in a central location. And, along with the flag, there should be a fitting ceremony performed when it is raised in the morning and lowered at 5 p.m.

LET'S SHOW RESPECT

Due respect by members of the BYU community should be offered during these ceremonies. That is, salute if in uniform, stop cars, and stand attentively facing the flag.

This is a military school you ask. No! But, we feel that as Latter-day Saints, who pride themselves in their patriotism and loyalty to the nation, we could well afford one minute of our time each day to giving full attention to the banner which is symbolic of the land that is so dear to all of us.

Many former students of this university have sacrificed their lives for us and for the preservation of our country. Therefore, it would be fitting to offer them also, one moment's silence and thought.

FLAG CENTRALLY LOCATED

We suggest that a flag pole be placed between the Eyring Science Center and the McKay building. The affair should rightfully be conducted by members of the AFROT, and the national anthem played by the carillon bells would be both beautiful and appropriate.

In the past the flag has been raised and lowered by custodians with no fanfare and without the awareness and proper courtesy of more than two or three people.

The flag is a symbol of us, the people, the great land and the cherished democratic idea fostered by Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln. Indeed we should be mindful of the wonderful blessing that is ours as citizens of the United States of America.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"FIRST PERIOD CLASSES AIN'T SO BAD - BUT GET HERE ON TIME - THIS GUY LOCKS TH DOOR AFTER TH BELL RINGS."

From The Tower

The approach of primary elections and the receiving of grades caused a conflict for many previous candidates for student body officers.

Because of grades 15 candidates were forced to withdraw from running since their average was too low. On a campus of this size it seems a shame that there would not be enough students who realize the importance of a GPA in connection with holding an office.

After the withdrawal of so many, there are several offices being sought after by only one candidate. An office won uncontested often loses its importance and the officer sometimes fails to realize he is holding a place of responsibility even if there was no competition for the job.

This situation can be solved by a write-in vote. According to Janis Hull a student receiving 50 write-in votes for an office in the primaries will be considered a candidate for the general elections April 2-5.

Such write-in votes play an important part in the democratic voting procedures used on campus. Under these procedures it is vital that there be more than one candidate for each office open.

It has been over a month since the Sounding Board meeting was held for students and student body officers. This was announced as a pre-meeting to the Sounding Board with administration members, and was designed to bring out the important questions that were to be answered at the main meeting.

At this first meeting it was planned that all minor questions that could be answered by those student officers present could be taken care of and would not be brought into the large discussion.

However, since that first meeting there has been no follow-up Sounding Board. This is an important meeting that should not be overlooked or left to chance planning. At the Sounding Board students have one of the few opportunities to put vital matters before the administration; find out the whys and wherefores of their questions on various student matters.

Safety Valve — by the Readers

(Editor note): The following letters are the last word regarding Bob Koenig's guest editorial of March 8 concerning the Alexander Schreiner organ recital.

IMPLICATED??

Dear Editor,

This is too much! I refuse to be implicated in Mr. Koenig's much deeper implications. I shudder to think that Dr. Schreiner may read a copy of the March 8 Universe.

This in effect is what we have said to him: "Dr. Schreiner, Liberate simply would not approve of your program. We demand our rights! If you continue to flout the democratic process and interrupt our conversations with the longhair music of Bach rather than Presley, you'll alienate us just as you have the Salt Lake residents. So wise up."

In short, this is the most damning article I've ever read in a student publication, and I'm ashamed and embarrassed that it might represent our gratitude to Dr. Schreiner.

Well, the editor may take responsibility for material contained in the Universe's editorials, but I don't and won't.

If this does represent the majority of opinion of the BYU student body, I suggest we change our motto to "Mediocrity is the glory of God."

Ronald Wilcox

INVITATION

Dear Editor,

In reply to Bob Koenig's guest editorial concerning Alexander Schreiner's concert, may I suggest to Mr. Koenig that he initiate a movement to bring Leonard Friendly and Henry, the Hammond to entertain those not sufficiently familiar with Bach.

Or if it is lighter music he seeks, perhaps we could arrange for Melachrino and his singing, slobbering strings or even Andre Kostelanetz.

Or if "there is a need to reach the masses," then Elvis could reach them.

Or would it be better to ask Dr. Schreiner to play "Tico, Tico" with full vibrato, full swell, drums, bells, and glockenspiel, with a member of the Y's Men to accompany him on the maracas.

If Mr. Koenig was unable to enjoy the concert because of the "abundance of highly technical selections" on a "much too high level of comprehensiveness," I would suggest that he take a course in music appreciation before passing judgment on the suitability of Dr. Schreiner's program.

We organ students enjoyed the concert, but we wish that Dr. Schreiner had played perhaps an even "heavier" program to demonstrate further his mastery of the instrument and his capabilities as an artist.

Now Mr. Koenig, I extend my invitation to you to come down to the organ practice rooms. We have a Hammond, and you can play "The Beer Barrel Polka" to your heart's content.

U.S. TRAILS RUSS IN SCIENCE

Ever wonder why the Russians are surpassing the United States in scientific advancement?

Perhaps here are some of the answers.

NEW SOCIAL ORDER

The Russians place a great deal of emphasis upon physical science in their society. They have created a new social order, and put at its top the scientist!

Through this system, they have reached a degree of theoretical mathematics which here-to-fore has been unknown in the history of mankind. These things they have done, even though their great centers of educational culture were destroyed during World War II.

Most American professional engineers and scientists concentrate nearly 70 per cent of their man hours on menial tasks, technical training schools to provide skilled workers to relieve their scientists from these menial jobs, thus giving the scientists more time to devote toward research.

HIGH MORTALITY RATE

The mortality rate for American universities is fifty per cent. One half of the students who enroll at U. S. colleges fail to graduate.

On most campuses throughout the United States, more students quit or flunk out of science courses than in any other field.

Perhaps the Russians have a high drop-out rate also. The fact remains, however, that they are graduating, annually, twice as many scientists as we are in America.

RUSS SLOW BUT SURE

The Russians are slowly but surely bringing themselves up from a horse and buggy era into the atomic age. They are trying to bypass the use of coal and oil for power to replace the muscles of animals. They are on the verge of using atomic energy for a major power source. They have already built atomic plants for public electricity.

If we are to remain in competition with the Russians for world supremacy in the cold war, we had better take stock of our educational system.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

Are our prep schools teaching students not just the things they will need to know to get into college, but also what they will need to get through college?

Are our university curriculums deliberately designed in such a way as to discourage students?

The answers to these last two questions are probably unknown—but their solution are vital to the American way of life, and the free enterprise system.

"Circle K" Starts For Campus Men

Past members of the international Key Club and all other interested male students are invited to assist in the organization of a new men's service club on campus, the "Circle K."

Circle K, an international organization, is founded on the principle of service to fellow-men, school and community. It will be sponsored by the Kiwanis Clubs.

The club has the advantages of being an international organization, plus having a local group of interested-businessmen behind it.

All interested men should contact either Neil McKnight at his office in the bookstore or call Marlon Andrus, at FR. 3-6946, or Lynn Powell, FR. 3-7187.

Dress Ruffles, Slim Sheaths Rate Stylish

by Margaret Hunter

Spring brings with it the return of the classical shirtwaist dress and the slim sheath, as well as important new designs in convertible clothing and double-duty outfits.

Although the shirtwaist dress has been popular every year, this season brings many variations of the style into fashion.

These dresses can be seen in any version from the fancy "sissy" shirtwaist to the plain classical shirt dress with regular collar, shirt band, and French cuffs.

Sissy Dress Rates

Of high popularity is the sissy dress. Made of drip-dry fabrics to avoid tedious ironing, the dress usually has lace or ruffles down the front. Some of the ruffles extend the length of the dress while others are just on the top.

Braid, rickrack or tucks also add variation to the shirt dresses.

Sheaths again this spring are popular. There has been a change in the sheath. It has been softened. This softening is achieved by the use of blousing, jackets, soft fabrics, or panels.

Suit Lines Straight

Straight and open jacketed suits with soft blouses, taken from the lines of Chanel of Paris, will be prominent in the coming season.

One of fashion's newest innovations will be in the wide use of convertible clothing.

Panel, as well as the usual collars and cuffs, will snap on and off. Necklines will be changed by the addition of many different styled dickies. Full skirts will change a clim to a bouffant silhouette.

These double-duty outfits will give a variation of garments for the price of one. The accessories of the dress will be of high importance.

A plain sheath for day can be completely changed for evening by the addition of a chiffon panel. It is snapped to the back and fitted to the waist to achieve the blousing.

Designers For Men's Fashions Aim For Style And Easy Care

by Nadine Hall

As wars pass into history books, G.I. khaki pants are being replaced on campus by slacks of polished cotton in a wide range of colors.

Tan is leading the color parade with black running second. Style leaders are selecting the pleated, back-strapped university model in olive or white.

B-ies being "sanitized" washable, these polished cottons wear as well as old chinos, but feel and look much better. The solid colors also contrast neatly with plaid and striped shirts.

Box Pleat Ideal

Tartans, checks, stripes and solid color shirts dominate male wear. The button-down model with center back button and box pleat is ideal for dating and informal events. White shirts, Gordon type, button-down model with center back button and box pleat is ideal for dating and informal events.

Although a few racoon coats are coming out of cold storage, many college men are making firm friends of duffle and coats with leather toggles. Popular are those made of lo cloth.

This comfortable coat is for sport as well as weekend trips to other colleges. A hood optional equipment.

Shirts to Match

Men who have given their brains a class ring to their gals are buying matching shirts. In some cases, these shirts are identical down to the last button.

Those caps that you see around the quad are here to stay. Corduroy stripes, tartan and even reversible caps are favored for the well dressed head.

Some men prefer the new Tyroean hat, not the porkpie type with a feather, but the real McCoy with high crown, narrow brim and a brush on the side.

It is about time for college men to shelve the books awhile. Spring quarter dances are just ahead. Pioneer and explorers may graduate to colored dinner jacket.

On the subject of formal shirts, the stiff "cardboard" front is out; pleats have taken over. If you have trouble with lipstick on the collar, one of the new dacron and cotton shirts will save time and embarrassment. Even the rankest amateur can wash it himself. It will overnight wrinklefree and ready for the next party.

Loafers Wear Best

At formal the suave are wearing the new narrow knitted pleated shirts. A pleated front of shirt shows that a man takes care in his dress. And besides it's a good point of departure for a conversation piece.

Although patent leather shoes are still the rage, for formal wear, more men are switching to well-shined tasseled loafers, gray for weekend jaunts. This is money saver as well as a fashion saver.

Silks Popular In New Styles

To add to the soft spring silhouette will be the use of important silk and cotton fabrics.

Silk, this year, has become very prominent in high style clothing. It is used widely in blends with cotton or wool as well as alone.

Many of the shirtwaist dresses are of silk or a blend. Blouses and even coats are being made from this fiber.

Cotton, again, is going to be very important for spring and summer. This fabric is often teamed with Dacron to give the very popular "grip-dry" fabric.

The miracle fibers of Dacron, Orlon, and Nylon will again play an important part in the design of easy care clothes.

Although many plain colors are used in the coming season's fashions, prints have really come into their own. Soft floral prints on cottons are many times designed by famous artists of the world.

Also, bold, floral stripes as well as the classical stripes will be in use.

Soft pinks, violets, greys, and beiges are the newest and most fashionable colors. Blues and greens are also very important.

School Of Jazz Opens Doors To Musicians

by Nadine Hall

A NEW DEVELOPMENT in music, The School of Jazz, staffed by top ranking jazz musicians, will start its first session next summer at the Berkshire Music Barn, in Lenox, Mass., according to John Lewis, executive director of the school. He is also director of the Modern Jazz quartet.

This school is being incorporated as a non-profit organization and is located next to Tanglewood, home of the Boston Symphony summer festival and school.

ENROLLMENT in the three week session beginning Aug. 12 will be limited to 40 musicians and 20 auditors (non-playing students).

Musicians will be required to pass auditions or to submit attested tapes or recordings to qualify for entrance.

INSTRUCTION will include rehearsal in both a large ensemble and in a small group, composition, arrangement and history of jazz.

Each participant will also be required to take a minimum of two hours a week of individual instruction on his instrument.

IN ADDITION to the regular courses and the jazz concerts scheduled at the Music Barn, there will be special demonstrations by musicians of differing schools of jazz and representative folk musicians from other parts of the world.

Construction On Men's Dorms Commences Spring Quarter

(Continued from page 1) and room have not been determined, they are expected to be substantially less than expenses in most other American colleges. Efforts will be made to keep costs at a minimum in the new units, Mr. Lewis said.

The project will consist of a cluster of six buildings—a central building and five residence halls. Landscaping will provide for extensive sidewalks, planter areas, lawns, shrubbery and patios. Much of the concrete will be in various colors. Of contemporary design, the buildings will harmonize with other recent campus structures. Brickwork will be of a light shade, and extensive use will be made of sandwich panel and window wall construction. The design is based on the lift-slab method of construction.

Architects Named

Architects for the dormitories have been the Los Angeles firm of Kegley, Westphal and Arbogast, and the central building has been designed by Lowell E. Parrish, AIA, Salt Lake City.

Hub of the entire project will be the central building for business and dining facilities. Two large dining rooms, supplied by the finest kitchen equipment, will serve the 1170 residents three meals a day. Large food storage and auxiliary kitchen features will make the entire dining area one of the largest in the West.

The main building also will include large living rooms, reception areas, television rooms, recreation room, cloak rooms, snack bar, administrative rooms, reception desks, post office. Removable tables and folding chairs will provide for conversion of the dining rooms into dancing areas.

Hall 1 House 234

East of the five residence halls will house 234 men on three floors, and will consist of two wings with a central living and recreation area in the center. Entrances will be on each end and at the center.

Each floor in each wing will have twenty rooms—19 rooms for two men each, and a single room for a senior resident. Each building, therefore will have a "head resident" couple and six "senior residents" to assist in the administration of the building.

Each room will house two men. Each man will have a single bed which can be made into a couch during the day, a wardrobe closet, study desk with file drawers, chest of drawers, medicine cabinet, bookshelf and built-in storage areas. All bedding and furnishings will be provided. Every room will have a telephone.

Large picture windows will form one end of each room, providing plenty of light, view, and feeling of freedom for the occupants.

A classic in checks is this shirt style dress with Italian collar and contrasting cummerbund in wonderfully washable, drip dry dacron and cotton

Swim Suit Changes in Design

by Winifred Wilkinson
ATLANTA, (U.S.)—All women be buying bathing suits as they buy bras—by cup-size—within the next three years, according to one swim fashion manufacturer.

Bernie Kort, representing a New York girdle and brassiere manufacturer which went into the swim suit business seven years ago, said at an advance news conference in Atlanta:

"The ABC bra construction of swim suits will become a uniform method for fitting women throughout the country within the next three years."

Ninety per cent of the time, when you know the bust measurement, the body will conform to definite measurements. This is better fit to the suit in all parts of the body," he explained.

Comfort Desired
The New Yorker added: "As much as style in a swim suit, a woman is looking for comfort. She doesn't want any bones poking her and, on the other hand, she doesn't want to worry about the suit coming off."

The company has used the specific bra size in a rubber fabric to make a suit that will "stay" without bones.

While emphasizing fit, the manufacturer also has gone into styling to suit the most staid woman.

One strapless suit with half skirt is made in a new rubber fabric which gives the effect of crepe silk, in gold, with white and black border design on top and bottom.

Not Really Cotton
Several of the suits show up fabrics that look like cotton but are in reality rubberized materials.

Unusual colors and gradations of tone are used in plaids and stripes, which are put together in the most flattering effect.

One suit features regimental stripes in an up-and-down pattern which gives a slenderizing effect blending into the smaller bustline.

The Empire influence shows in a suit which is fitted, but highlighted with a white trim and bow just below the bosom.

Other cotton effects are used in a Venus-like drape with a half skirt. This shows up particularly in rich plum tones.

Another variation on the rubberized fabric theme is a knit suit, with shoulder strap extension and low cut back.

Angel In Pawnshop Production Opens As 'Admirable Offering'

by Richard Kramer
Daily Universe Drama Critic

Angel in the Pawnshop opens as a very admirable offering for Spring Quarter.

Under the guiding hand of director Lael J. Woodbury, whose last offering was "Ondine," the play emerges as a delightful story enacted by an excellent cast.

Carl G. Markworth as Hilary was expertly cast. Mr. Markworth's role in "Angel" is his first lead role so to speak, although he has had many parts in the Brigham Young Theater Production this year, "The Snow Treasure" and "Ondine" to name a few. He was exceptional throughout the entire play.

Mary Ann Nelson was good, although a little more voice variation would have added immensely in her role as Lizzie Shaw.

The character parts of the rest of the cast were very good, with almost all of them scoring.

Gary L. Stewart as "Timothy Spangle" was terrific.

Perhaps Dr. Woodbury could have toned down the Bogart-Cagney routine used by Rodger L. Brown in his role of Danny O'Keefe. After a while it became a little distracting.

The scenery was another example of the artistic craftsmanship of BYU's stage craft.

BYH Student Gets Grant

David Morrill, student at Brigham Young High School, has been awarded a $395 scholarship to Northwest Air College, it was announced this week by John McBride, president of the college.

Morrill is the son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Reed Morrill of Provo. He will attend the college this summer in Spokane, Wash. The college is an airlines training division.

This is the sixth scholarship in two months to be awarded at BYH.

Freshman and sophomore tests will be held in the Social Hall and not at the Smith Ballroom as previously announced. All new students are required to attend Saturday at 8 p.m., according to the testing division.

Cats Barnstorm California

Van Noy Hopes Junket Will Hone Baseballers

by Larry Woodard
Daily Universe Sports Writer

Brigham Young University's baseball Cougars take to the road Sunday for a full week of activities in southern California.

The big barnstorming trip is expected to serve a three-fold purpose.

"We want to try to win these games, but we are primarily trying to get in shape and see what we've got," is the way Jay Van Noy, the personable Cougar baseball coach, explained the invasion into California.

The third purpose is to scout new talent. "If we hear of any good prospects, we'll ask them to watch us play and see if they are interested in playing our brand of ball," Van Noy said.

Those players from the California area interested in choosing a college for a baseball career will see the ex-Cardinal coaching a running team, as the boys have worked overtime on the "hit-and-run."

The coach reports that he is pleased with the team hustle and believes that they will be able to make a creditable showing when the conference games roll around.

"If we had a good left-handed pitcher, we'd be in there," Van Noy surmised confidently.

It is estimated by many students of the game that the battery (pitcher and catcher) is 70 to 80 per cent of baseball. Should this be true, the following BYU players will assume an important role in the Cougars' baseball success:

Pitchers: Cravens, Skousen, Hatch, Blair, Jorgenson, Naylor, and Rile.

Catchers: Foster, Pratley and Lewis.

The California Schedule
March 26—San Diego State College
March 27—Marine Corps Recruiting Depot at San Diego
March 28—Loyola of Los Angeles
March 29—Terminal Island Naval Base at Long Island
March 30—Pepperdine College at Los Angeles.

Spring 'Mural Schedule Issued; Softball, Track Highlight List

Bowling and chess competition have resumed as the Intramural program gets underway for the spring quarter.

According to Bill Hafén, director of intramurals, these two activities will continue for about another three weeks before they wind up. The chess tourney is the first of its type to be held on the Brigham Young University campus.

A flash-back to last quarter's intramural basketball league shows the 17th Ward took first place honors by downing Sevier 60-66.

Bill Hafén declares that the hoop league was the most successful thus far in intramurals. A total of 97 teams played in 407 games, and more than 1,000 students took part.

Hafén, by now a past master in the art of taking care of students' spare time, says that a full quarter of activity is scheduled for the spring season.

Among the many activities slated are three tourneys which will be open to co-eds: archery, badminton, and tennis.

On the schedule for the first week in April is the annual volleyball tourney. This will be open to all campus organizations and independent groups. Entries close April 2.

In the ever popular softball competition, Hafén hopes that this year will see an increase in the number of teams entering. Last season a total of 36 teams in five leagues contested for winning honors.

The deadline for entries is set for April 9th.

Table tennis doubles will begin on April 11 with entries closing on the 9th.

Pitching horseshoes will return to the campus on April 25. With the usual amount of enthusiasm, this year should see more throwers in the doubles play.

Completing the listings for April activities is the badminton doubles. Last year a very successful tourney was held.

Paddleball and tennis will hit the headlines for the first activity in May, with entry deadline set for May 2.

Park Ro-She will again host the annual intramural swimming meet, giving men students a chance to show their aqua talent. Entries close May 9.

One of the year's big intramural events is the track meet and Hafén says that plans are already underway to make this competition one of the best in "mural history."

Last year the Gone Johns "A" were successful in walking away with top honors, while six new entries were made in the record books.

As yet, no date has been set for the two remaining spring quarter activities, golf and archery. However, Hafén hopes to announce these shortly.

All BYU students are eligible to enter any intramural activity. Those wishing to take part in the men's program should go to room 217 of the fieldhouse to fill out the required entry blank.

Anderson Can't Play Football; Cougar Star Ruled Ineligible

by Vicki Soha
Sports Feature Writer

Harry Anderson is one of the most outstanding all-around athletes to attend Brigham Young University.

In his eight years of high school and college athletics, Anderson has participated in four major sports: basketball, track, baseball and football.

Anderson played baseball and football at Grantsville High School.

At BYU, he stars in track with a 9.6 record in the 100-yard dash. Winning in the 1956 Skyline Conference made him eligible to run the century in the NCAA. Anderson won five straight contests in the BYU European track tour before he suffered a sprained ankle.

Floor general of the Cougar championship basketball team, Anderson is known as one of the fastest men in the Skyline Conference.

He was on the all-conference second team and was high point man for a single game in the NCAA tournament at Corvallis last week.

Anderson played high school football for four years. He considered playing football for BYU in the fall, but he was ruled ineligible since he has participated in varsity athletics for four years. If he did play in the fall, he would have to choose between football and track. His decision was made for him.

"I'd like to play football, and I'd like to run track. The decision wasn't mine; it was the conference ruling," Anderson said.

BYU Soccer Team Travels To Ogden

BYU's soccer team will travel to Ogden Saturday for a league game at 3:30.

The Cougar's, fresh from last week's 7-1 victory over Alemmania "C", will be without the services of Hans Mussler and Karl Bodon.

Football Anyone? ...

Kopp Looks To Autumn Season As BYU Gridders Begin Drills

BY HOWARD HILL
Universe Sports Writer

Spring football practice starts Monday and BYU Coach Hal Kopp hopes he will have the ingredients to cook up a recipe that will give the win-hungry Cougar football fans a successful season next fall.

Kopp plans to use a "pro" type offense which is made of a lot of passing and a good share of running plays.

However, to accomplish this, Kopp has got to find a good fullback and wingback, and it looks like his biggest concern is going to be with the fullback position.

The BYU coach has been thinking of using R. K. Brown in the fullback slot, but Brown may be more valuable elsewhere. Wayne Chamberlain, backfield star on the BYU frosh last season, is another possibility at the fullback position.

At wingback, Kopp might use Bert Bullock or Howard Greenwood.

There is also the problem of filling the position of guard vacated by all-conference Jay Weenig, who is graduating. Also graduating will be ends Ray Neel and Ed Hunt. Kopp hinted that he might use Brown in one of the end positions.

Two spots that put Kopp's mind at ease are that of quarterback and center. All his signal callers and centers are returning from last season's eleven.

Heading the list of quarterbacks, is Carrol Johnston, who was ranked high in the nation in passing last season.

A big help to the quarterbacks during spring drills last season, was the presence of Rudy Bukich, who coached the BYU quarterbacks.

Bukich will assist the Cougar coaching staff again this spring, and will return to the Los Angeles Rams professional football team in the fall.

Spring practice will be capped with the annual blue-white intra-squad game on the last day of the 20-day practice schedule.

Kopp plans an intra-squad game on the tenth day of spring workouts.

"A big company works for me..."

JOHN D. EVANS, University of Pennsylvania, 1952

"I began working on a training program for General Electric in the summer of '52. Right now, I'm 'Employee and Plant Community Relations Manager' of my company's new plant in Burlington, Iowa. One of the advantages I found in working for a big company such as General Electric is that, because of its size, it is able to give me, and other college-graduate employees like me, a wide variety of training and experience in any one of 159 plants all over the country. Through an extensive on-the-job training program, it is providing me with the opportunity to become one of the top men in my field, and I know that as long as I apply myself to each job, I'll keep moving up. The way I look at it, General Electric is helping me help myself. That's why I say I'm working for a big company, but a big company works for me, too."

size. 27-year-old John Evans is just one example of the thousands of college graduates at General Electric, each being given the opportunity for self-development so that he may grow and realize his full potential.

As our nation's economy continues to expand in the years ahead, thousands of young people of leadership caliber will be needed to fill new positions of responsibility in American industry. General Electric feels that by assisting young people like John Evans in a planned program of personal growth, we have found one way of meeting this need.

A Manager of Employee and Plant Community Relations at General Electric holds a responsible position: he handles employee benefits, health and safety, training, wage and salary administration, and community relations.

VOICES OF ANGELS—Massed choirs under the direction of Crawford Gates rehearse for a stereophonic recording of music for the Hill

Cumorah Pageant. Original score for both choir and orchestra was composed by Dr. Gates. (Photo by Don Christensen)

Stereophonic Sound Adds To Pageant Music; Choirs, Symphony Orchestra Combine Talent

Stereophonic recordings are now being made by Brigham Young University Chorus for the 1957 Hill Cumorah Pageant.

The men's and women's choruses, under the direction of Norman Gulbrandsen, and the A Cappella Choir, directed by Newell Weight, have been rehearsing the past three weeks. During the past week they have been recording with the Utah State Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Crawford Gates of the BYU music department.

The original composition was especially written for the pageant by Dr. Gates by commission of the Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Five separate channels of music originating from five parts of the chorus must be recorded. These recordings will be played from five parts of the hill during the pageant.

To accomplish this a perfect recording of each song must be made. A stereophonic record especially hard to make because the microphones pick up the sounds of every movement.

BYU students have performed in the Pageant for years and volunteers wishing to participate this year should fill out application in the speech department, according to Dr. Harold Hansen, professor of speech department.

The applicants must be able to spend three weeks of the summer in travel, rehearsal and participation for the pageant. They must also be able to obtain recommendations from their bishop. The one hundred applicants will travel under regular mission rules.

BYU volunteers will participate with the Eastern States missionaries in the Palmyra, Y., pageant.

BYU Head Cashier Visits Homeland In Great Britain

Muriel Thole, head cashier, Brigham Young University, just returned to Provo after spending four months in her homeland, Wales, Great Britain.

Miss Thole went home for the first time in two years because of serious illness in her family.

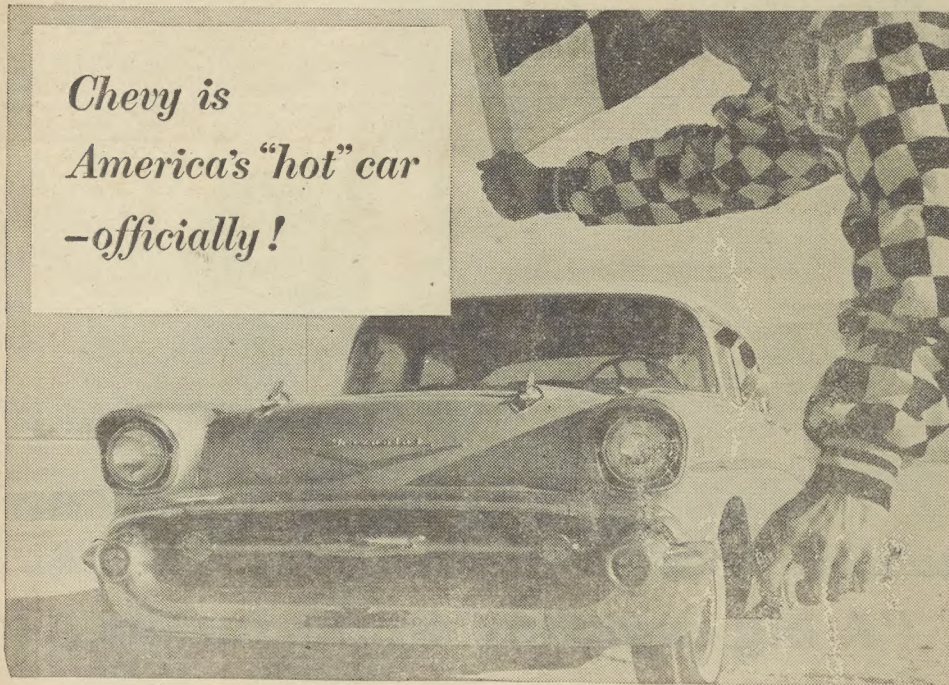

While there, she became acquainted with not only her family, but with the customs of the country.

For a great many years Father Christmas has visited Welch homes on Christmas Eve. This year, Davy Crockett, who the current rage, helped Father Christmas.

Although he had never seen Father Christmas before, Muriel Thole's nephew was greatly disappointed when he came to Christmas without Davy Crockett at his side.

Rock 'n Roll is also very popular in Wales this year, she mentioned.
